Dear Friends:

With more than 1 million ballots cast, the Nov. 6, 2012 Presidential Election was one of the busiest in suburban Cook County history. While 71 percent turnout did not set any records, voters showed growing enthusiasm for voting before Election Day. More than 27 percent of all ballots were cast during Early Voting, by mail or through grace period registration and voting.

Suburban Cook County voters overwhelmingly chose President Barack Obama for a second term. The President won 79 percent of all precincts and 25 of 30 townships. Like in 2008, Obama often won by wide margins – in a dozen precincts he secured 99 percent of the vote.

Here are a few more highlights:

- Voter registration held steady when compared with 2008, dipping just 1 percent or about 20,000 voters.
- For the second consecutive presidential election, Oak Park had the greatest turnout of any suburban township. Nearly 82 percent of registered voters in Oak Park cast ballots on Nov. 6, compared with 83 percent in 2008.
- Calumet Township had the highest percentage (93%) of Democratic votes for president, while Barrington township had the highest percentage (62%) of Republican votes for president.
- Three Congressional Districts seats with at least a portion located in Cook County shifted from red to blue – the 8th, 10th and 11th.
- Just like four years ago, Rich Township Precinct 1 at Marya Yates School in Matteson had the greatest number of voters cast ballots (2,030).
- All retention judges, even those deemed “unqualified” by the bar associations, were approved by voters for another term.

As always, this report, full election results and printable maps are available at cookcountyclerk.com.

HISTORICAL TURNOUT

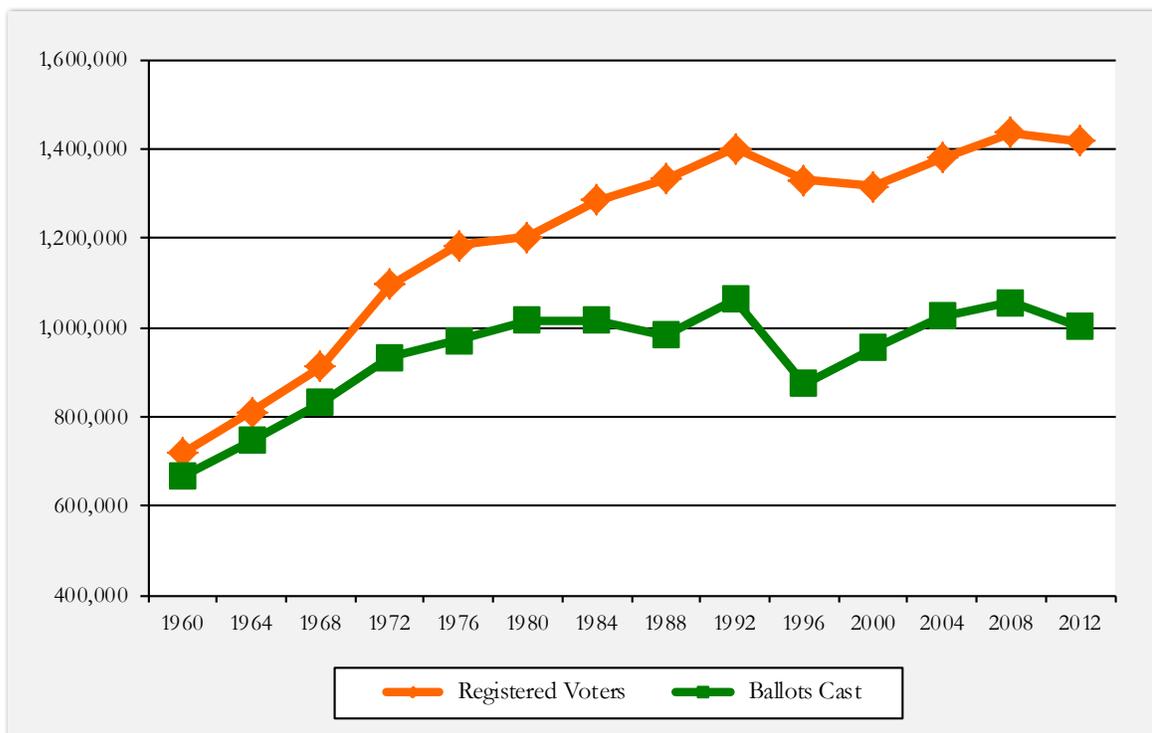

Suburban Cook County

Turnout reached 70.7 percent in suburban Cook County for the Nov. 6, 2012 Presidential Election, nearly matching turnout from the last Presidential Election in 2008. With more than 1 million ballots cast, participation outstripped the pre-election commentary, which predicted lackluster participation—especially in non-swing states.

OBAMA WINS 79% OF SUBURBAN COOK PRECINCTS

Suburban Cook County

President Barack Obama won 79 percent of all suburban Cook County precincts, or 1,323 of 1,673 precincts. Four years ago, then-candidate Barack Obama won 89 percent of all suburban Cook County precincts.

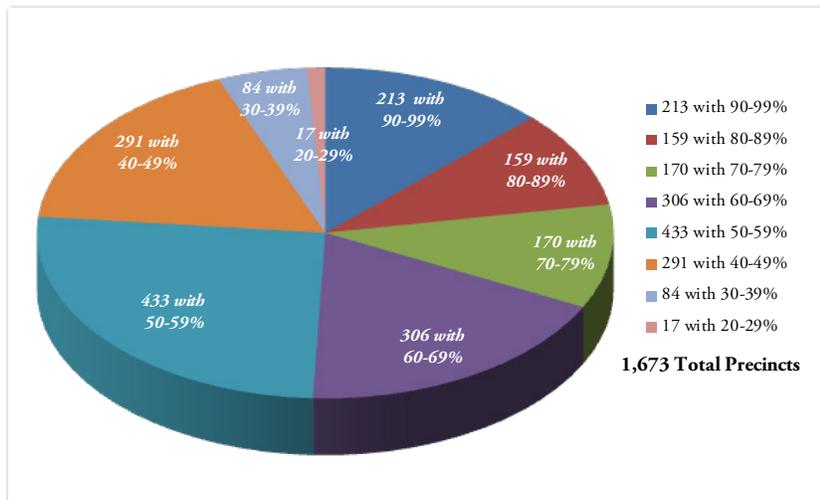

As in 2008, Obama often won precincts by wide margins while rarely losing precincts in the same manner. In 542 precincts, at least 70 percent of voters cast ballots for Obama. He failed to win at least 30 percent of the vote in only 17 precincts.

Obama also won the following 12 precincts by 99 percent or more.

THREE SUBURBAN COOK CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS MOVE FROM RED TO BLUE

Illinois' congressional districts underwent a dramatic party change in the November 2012 elections. Statewide, the remap based on the 2010 Census reduced the number of districts in Illinois from 19 to 18, eliminating one Republican district. It also produced a congressional delegation that saw a shift of four Republican-held seats to Democratic candidates.

Three of these seats are at least partially in suburban Cook County: the 8th, which went from Joe Walsh to Tammy Duckworth; the 10th, which went from Robert Dold to Brad Schneider; and the 11th (previously the 13th), which went from Judy Biggert to Bill Foster.

 Denotes district also contains precincts in another county.*

In suburban Cook County, the delegation shifted from 64 to 91 percent Democrats. Notably, long-time Congressman Bobby Rush easily won his congressional district, although he lost the small section in suburban Cook County to Republican challenger Donald Peloquin. While Republican Judy Biggert lost her bid for the 11th Congressional District, she was the winner in suburban Cook County.

Overall, Illinois' congressional delegation has gone from 11 Republicans in its 19 seats to 11 Democrats in its 18 seats. Or, to look at it another way, from 58 percent red to 61 percent blue.

For a consecutive Presidential Election, Marya Yates School in Matteson—the precinct with the most registered voters in suburban Cook County—again had the greatest number of voters cast ballots. In fact, 170 more voters in that precinct participated than in 2008. All top 10 precincts had more than 1,000 voters cast ballots, a difference of 1,543 more voters than the top 10 precincts in the 2008 Presidential Election.

RETENTION JUDGES

Cook County - Chicago and Suburbs

Sitting Circuit Court judges are required to run for retention every six years. Voters are allowed to decide whether they wish to retain or dismiss a judge. These elections are not contested between competing candidates or parties. Voters make a judgment on the record of the individual judges.

Only 63 percent of Chicago and Suburban Cook County voters who voted for president also voted for the retention judges.

Down Ballot Fall Off in Cook County

All 58 judges up for retention won at least 60 percent approval from voters and were retained. Judges who do not meet this test are removed from office. Yet, no judge in Cook County has failed to be retained since 1990. Typically judges receive between 70 and 80 percent approval ratings.

The bar associations evaluate judges and recommend either for or against retention. The seven judges deemed “unqualified” by the bar associations received the lowest approval percentages, but enough to be retained.

PRE-ELECTION DAY VOTING

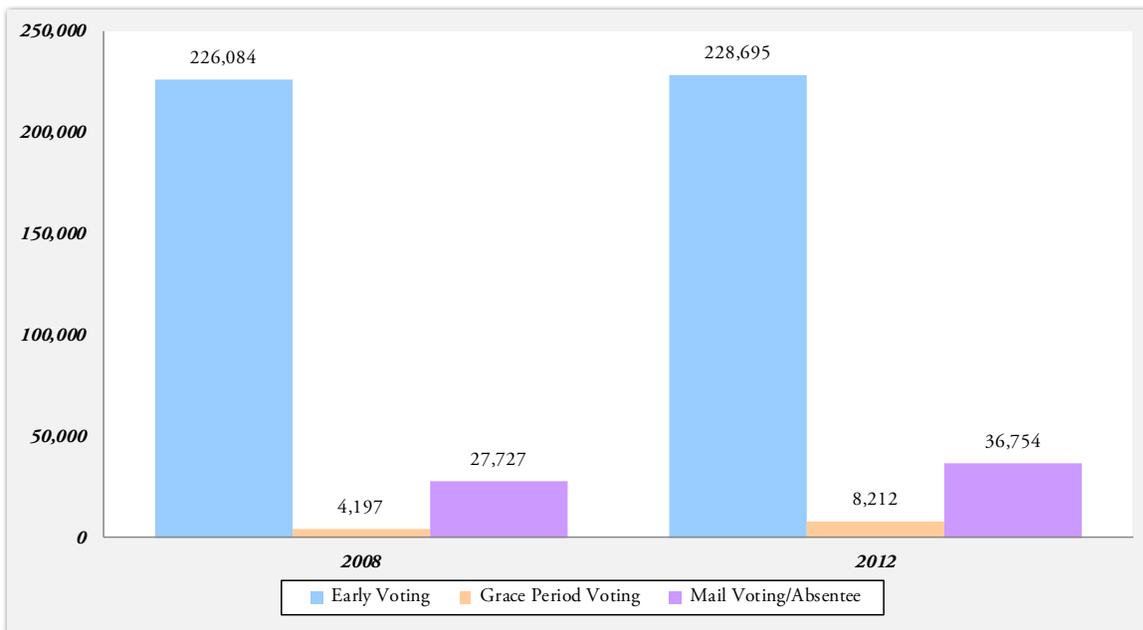

Suburban Cook County

Suburban Cook County voters set new records for all three types of pre-Election Day voting. Compared with 2008, nearly twice as many people registered and voted during the grace period, mail voting grew by 25 percent and Early Voting turnout surpassed the previous record set four years ago. In all, 273,661 voters participated before Nov. 6—a 6 percent growth over 2008.

ELECTRICITY AGGREGATION

CONTINUES TO WIN WIDE SUPPORT

Suburban Cook County

In 2012 many local governments in Cook County, taking advantage of a recently-passed state law, decided to offer their residents the option of purchasing electrical power collectively as a community rather than purchasing it directly from the electric company as individuals. The rationale for this is that it will produce lower electrical costs for individuals because the community will be able to negotiate volume discounts with the power company.

Typically the question put to the voters was:

“Shall the Village of ____ have the authority to arrange for the supply of electricity for its residential and small commercial retail customers who have not opted out of such program?”

In the March 2012 election 62 communities voted on this option in referenda. Fifty-one of the 62 communities, or 82 percent, chose to establish aggregate electricity buying.

On November 6, another 20 communities voted in referendum on the issue. Sixteen more communities chose electricity aggregation, or 80 percent of communities.
